

These new companies are returning us to the days of one big phone company wheer no competition equls less choices and more costs for consumers. Another area of concern is the lack of affordable high speed internet service. What happened to the deregulation of the cable industry that was going to provide plenty of competition and lower costs. The opposite has happened. Lets help the consumer by stopping the merger and ensuring the public is served.